NOTE FOR POSSIBLE SUPPLEMENTARIES TO THE STARRED LCQ NO. 600
GIVEN NOTICE OF BY SRI K.R. AMOS, MLC

The Hepatitis-B is not rampant in Rural and urban areas of Telangana State. Case statistics in DME hospitals shows very low incidence of hepatitis. Copies enclosed. It usually spreads by using single needle to multiple patients, if any of these patients are infected with Hepatitis-B virus infection. All hospitals use needle cutters after giving injection to patient to dispose needles and they should be discarded in colour coded bags / bins.

Disposal of medical wastage in all hospitals under control of Director of Medical Education is maintained though private agencies.
